Two great new games from Andrew Looney... (that guy who invented Fluxx)

TREEHOUSE

For 2-4 players, each game lasts only 5-10 minutes - retail price: $9

Each player rolls the custom die to determine if they will TIP, SWAP, DIG, AIM, or HOP their Tree of three pyramids while they try to make them match the configuration of the shared goal called The House. Roll a WILD and you can change your own Tree or The House!

This game is Fluxx for the pyramids!

both in the way it plays
AND the way it sells

"My wife demo'd it to me the day after she got back and we had three people IN LINE to try a demo before we finished our first game. I love the game, it's colorful, eye-catching, easy to play and demo and inexpensive. We sold through our initial order within days of getting it on the counter.

-Steve & Janenne Ellis / Rules of Engagement Games / Havelock, NC

"We ordered our first copies of Treehouse, shortly after returning from GAMA. We have a demo copy of the game on our front table, and customers from ages 10 and up have been challenging each other... over and over again. The game is so deceptively simple to learn, but can escalate into surprisingly strategic competition."

- Vicki Schneider / Infinite Quests / Blue Bell, PA

MARTIAN COASTERS

For 2-4 players, games last only 5-10 minutes - retail price: $6

Add a set of Martian Coasters to your Treehouse set and play another great new Andrew Looney game.

It's a zany little race across an ever-shifting grid of colorful squares - also great for playing the "Where Can I Put Down My Beverage?" game.

"I can't wait to get it [Martian Coasters] on my shelf. It's good looking and a lot of fun! A lot of people really enjoy Treehouse and are looking forward to this add-on so they can increase the fun level of the game!"

- Gigi Leupold of Critical Hit Games / Coralville, IA
